CORRESPONDENCE and PUBLIC COMMENT

NICHOLLS stated that Chief Dunlap's official directive was:

To continue to make suggestions on the best ways to harmonize the careful movement of cars, bicycles, and pedestrians as well as to offer ideas about safety messages and campaigns which may integrate into the police departments communication project.

PRUSH stated that the police department has hired communications arts and sciences to help with a 2 year study, including surveys of the police department and the community on all levels of students to faculty staff. These surveys are to determine various communications campaigns that the police department should market and take on. The first survey has been sent out and the police department should be starting to shape their campaign according to those surveys soon.
